ideas@work

Educreative solutions by JBCN Learners

VOLUME 10

JBCN
International School

Stories in Clay Motion

Since she was a little girl, Tishtrya Karbhary (Grade V) has been very fond of clay modelling and sculpting. Using her interest in this art form and discovering a new love for stories, she has initiated a series of short and interesting "clay-motion" videos on her YouTube channel.

All the characters and props used in her story videos have been handcrafted by her.

Through these short stories, Tishtrya is trying to reach out to the younger children with her craft and create some unique online tales for them.

Check out her clay-motion videos on : Tishtrya K

International Model United Nations 10.0

In an attempt to keep learning and exploring, our Grade VIII learner, Rudraj Mehta decided to be a part of the IMUN 10.0.

At the two day international conference Rudraj was delegated to represent the Czech Republic in the Continuous Crisis Committee. His research based analysis required him to find solutions to the COVID crisis for his country and he presented several innovative measures to solve the predicament.

Rudraj was the youngest delegate in the forum and his debut representation won him an 'Honourable Mention', the second highest position at the conference.

Congratulations Rudraj on your achievement!

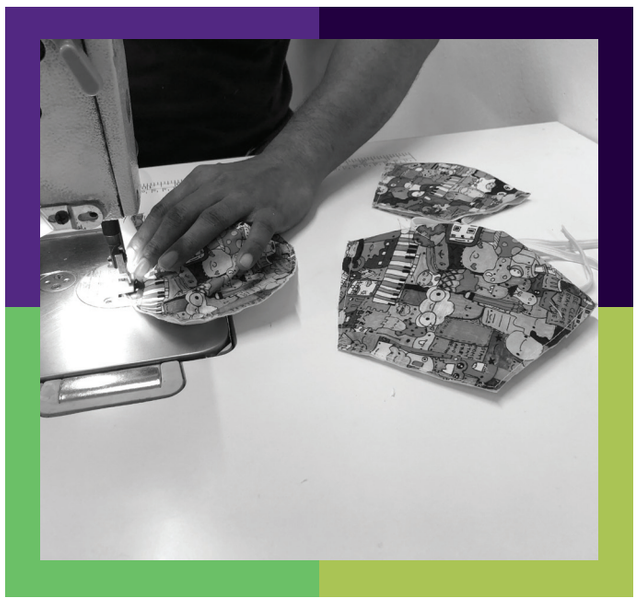
PAREL

Designing for a cause

Naqiya Pardawala, our learner of Grade VII has been pursuing her fondness for designing by creating beautiful digital artworks.

In an attempt to help the vulnerable during the ongoing crisis she has been taking orders for digital copies of personalized labels, name tags and bookmarks and intends to contribute the money from their sale to an NGO, Asha Dhan.

Wishing our young designer, Naqiya, all the very best for using her creative skills to help out for a noble cause.



'Doodlicious' Masks

Zaina Mody (Grade VI) has been using her time during the lockdown to hone her doodling skills and has discovered a unique way to use her skill set to help during these trying times.

The result is 'Doodlicious', the 3 ply pure cotton masks! Designed by Zaina, these masks look very vibrant and cool. She has also designed a coloring book based on the same theme.

A part of the proceeds from the sale of these masks and coloring books will be donated to an NGO, YVO.

What a stylish solution to keep the people safe and support the NGO too! To check out these cool masks, please visit : Doodlicious

EDUCREATIVE SOLUTIONS BY STAFF

The Happy Song

'Music and Rhythm find their way into the secret places of the soul' - Plato

The team at JBCN International School, Oshiwara is back again with another musical foot-tapping reminder for the learners everywhere to stay happy!

This Pharrell Williams number is sure to keep you all grooving as you go about your day. Thank you to the Oshiwara team for such a beautiful performance.

To view the video, click here :
What Happiness Means To You

If you have any interesting initiatives to share please write to us at ideasatwork@jbcn.in mentioning the full name, grade and campus of the learner.